PROJECTS: A CONFERENCE ON BEST PRACTICES

This conference will explore the experiences that Texas governmental entities have had with alternate project delivery methods in the few years that these approaches have been permitted under Texas law. Speakers will focus on best practices and lessons learned from the perspectives of design professionals, contractors, and owners.

Presentations will include information on a general market overview of APD in Texas, the City of Austin's Water Treatment Plant 4, the City of Sugar Land Water Treatment Plant project, Dallas Area Rapid Transit's experiences with APD, how to evaluate and choose between various project delivery options at the front end of a project, global experiences with public-private partnerships, and more.
